

JUST 17 Cents A DAY

Think of it: Just 17c a day--the price of a good daily smoke.

A little chewing gum, a few candies---will make you the owner of about as pretty, well situated, accessible and profitable piece of property as a moderate amount of money ever bought.

Just think of the nickels, the dimes, the two bits, we spend here and there with absolutely nothing to show for them. Simply take care of nickels and in a mighty short time you will be the owner of a fine lot in Red Deer West.

Red Deer West is splendidly situated, close in, convenient, easy of access, high and dry. Red Deer West is a profitable progressive property. Last spring there were two houses and four people on Red Deer West. Today there are 21 houses and over 70 people there--and the end is not yet.

In investing in Red Deer you are putting your money into a town where conditions are safe, sound and healthy and where the future is exceedingly bright and positively assured. No town in Alberta has the prospects before it that Red Deer has with its river, its railways, its educational facilities, its manufacturing plants, its distributing facilities, its central services, its magnificent residential situation, its splendid dairy country, and its strategic central position for a great and growing city.

There are just eighty lots--40 choice building sites unsold in Red Deer west. Are you going to be one of the fortunate ones who are going to secure a pair of these fine lots.

Take $10. Open a Red Deer West account. Your money is as safe as it would be in the biggest bank in the country and your investment will ever increase in value

You will never have another opportunity to buy property of this character at anything like our prices and terms. $150 per lot--$10 down and $5 per month--just 17c a day. Think of it.

Red Deer West is making money for other people. It will make money for you and the sooner you get it the more money it will make you.

You cannot take advantage of this opportunity by merely thinking about it. You must decide--and quickly too. Make up your mind right now to investigate Red Deer West--then you'll invest.

Remember--Just 17c a day does the trick.

BULGARIA WILL MODIFY DEMANDS TO TURKEY

Turkey's Rejection of the Terms of Armistice was Expected at Sofia.

No Active Resumption of Hostilities is Expected.

Sofia, Nov. 22.—Now that the delegates have been appointed, it is likely that formal negotiations between the Bulgarians and the Turks will begin in 24 hours. The rejection of the preliminary condition by the Turks caused little surprise here. The Bulgarians expected to encounter the Turkish propensity for haggling and therefore demanded more than they expected to obtain.

The Balkan allies are prepared to grant a reasonable modification of the terms and are confident that Turkey will finally agree to them. As they do not fear that delay will cause them any serious disadvantage, the Bulgarians are all the more ready to make concessions because they are anxious to settle affairs with Turkey without the intervention of the powers.

It is thought probable that active hostilities, with the possible exception of an artillery duel will not be immediately resumed as the commanders of both armies are fully occupied in combating the cholera.

In the meantime military operations will not necessarily be stopped but it is understood that the Bulgarian troops will remain passive unless attacked by the Turkish troops.

MAY MODIFY DEMANDS.

Sofia, Bulgaria, Nov. 22.—The indications today are that Bulgaria will adopt a conciliatory attitude and will modify the conditions originally offered to the Turkish government. A special meeting of the Bulgarian cabinet was held today to consider the rejection by Turkey of the terms of the proposed armistice. At its conclusion it was declared in well informed circles that an immediate resumption of hostilities was improbable.

HAS NOT SUNK SO LOW.

It is further insisted that Turkey has not sunk to that degree of impotency which would compel her to accept such stipulations for the surrender of the Adrianople garrison; for the evacuation of the Thessalonica lines in front of Constantinople and for the surrender of Scutari, Durango and Dibra. No mention is made of Constantinople or the Dardanelles.

The Turkish warship Hamidieh arrived here this morning in tow. The warship was down by the stern where apparently she had been struck by a torpedo. She was at once docked.

AUSTRIAN RESERVES CALLED

London, Nov. 22.—The first classes of the reserves of six Austro-Hungarian army corps have been called to the colors, according to a news agency dispatch from Vienna. Three of these army corps are stationed in the north and three in the south-east of the Austro-Hungarian empire.

TURKEY'S PEACE PROPOSAL.

Paris, Nov. 21.—According to the correspondent at Constantinople of the Petit Parisien, Nazim Pasha told the Bulgarian plenipotentiaries that Turkey would only agree to an armistice on the following terms:—

That the Bulgarians should not advance beyond the present front; that Turkey, while surrendering Adrianople and Scutari, would bind herself not to send reinforcements, ammunition or provisions to those garrisons, but that the civil populations should be permitted to leave.

INDIFFERENCE TO AUSTRIA'S THREATS.

Paris, Nov. 22.—The state of mind of the Servians is one of great disquietude, according to a Belgrade dispatch to the Matin. They display the profoundest indifference to the threats of Austria.

The popular feeling, says the correspondent, may be summed up in the words:—

"We want ports on the Adriatic and will go to war with Austria, if necessary, to get them."

This feeling is encouraged by the reports of the strong agitation which is going on among the people of Bosnia, Croatia, Dalmatia, and other provinces, who are ready to fight against Austria in behalf of Serbia, and the fact that hundreds of Serbs, Croats and other Slavs from Austria-Hungary are arriving daily at Belgrade and enrolling themselves with the Serbian forces.

THE TURKISH POSITION.

Paris, Nov. 22.—The editor of the Matin, who has just left Constantinople, describes a farewell visit which he paid to Kiamil Pasha, the grand vizier. The old statesman was more bent and weary than the previous week, but his eye was clear and his spirit unbroken.

"You see I await the end," he said. "History will judge us, but it will also judge Europe. It will say if Europe has ever seen in us a people to be instructed, or simply a people to be exploited. It will say if Europe has demanded any reforms as concessions from us."

"I hope France and England will not regret some day having abandoned Turkey."

HIGH PRAISE FOR

SERBIAN STAMINA.

London, Nov. 22.—The Serbian march to the Adriatic receives high praise from the Times' correspondent at San Giovanni di Medua, who speaks in flattering terms of the stamina and excellent organization of the Serbian army.

Two divisions following different routes to Alessio suffered great hardships for three days. The cold was intense while crossing the mountain passes through deep snow. Then rain began and for the rest of the march the troops were soaked to the skin.

No meat could be obtained and bread, which had to be brought from the base, ran short. A large number of horses died on the way, but there were only four deaths and little sickness among the men.

They were so hungry on arrival that the doctors prohibited meat being served for a day or two for fear of ill effects. The men were too fatigued to undertake any fresh enterprises for some days. They have received no orders to assist the Montenegrins to capture Scutari, although it is believed that if Scutari is to be taken before the end of the war it will be only by their assistance.

A Belgrade despatch to the Times says that only 5,000 prisoners are in the hands of the Servians as the result of the fall of Monastir. The scattered remnants of the great Turkish army are being vigorously pursued, and it is reported that a large body has been captured, for a sharp cannonade has been heard in their direction.

GREEK LANDS TROOPS ON MEYTIENE.

Constantinople, Nov. 22.—It is reported that a Greek squadron has landed troops and taken possession of the island of Meytiene.

The Greek commander invited the Turkish governor aboard the flagship and demanded the surrender of the island within two hours. The governor asked time to consider and the commander refused his request. Troops were landed but they met with no resistance, the weak Turkish garrison retiring into the interior.

GREEKS HAVE STRONG POSITION AT TCHATALIA.

London, Nov. 21.—From Constantinople Martin Demboe, under date of November 21, sends the following to the Daily Chronicle:—

"The Turkish forts at Tchatalia are adequately manned. They occupy an enormously strong position and should the peace pour parlors fail the recent three days artillery duel may prove but a prelude to a far mightier struggle for supremacy on the same grounds."

"In the first attack the Bulgarians, by firing from lower ground behind the Turkish defenses, and employing field artillery instead of siege guns, saddled themselves with a heavy handicap and they were easily held at bay by the Turkish howitzers. Possibly something went wrong with the Bulgarian transports, but if it was intended to convert the reconnaissance into a determined and real attack the Bulgarians were unable to do so because their heavy guns were not in position."

"It became clear early on the second day of the battle that the Bulgarians were not prepared to make the fearful sacrifice of life which the storming of the forts would entail and when the principal batteries along the whole Turkish line unmasked the Bulgarians had sense enough to draw off before becoming hopelessly involved in an advance which would have led to disaster."

"Throughout, the Turkish officers and men displayed conspicuous bravery, the general staff in particular, continually exposing themselves to danger in a manner almost foolhardy."

MAY PROLONG THE STRUGGLE.

London, Nov. 21.—The Constantinople correspondent of the Daily Telegraph explains that the Moslem law provides that no part of the Khalif's possessions shall be abandoned except in cases of irresistible compulsion. Hence the council's rejection of the Bulgarian terms was based on this law and was suggested by the successful resistance the Turks have made at Tchatalia.

Another factor that influenced the decision was the report of the medical staff that the cases of cholera among the troops had diminished forty per cent.

Diplomatic circles, says the correspondent, believe the struggle will be prolonged unless the allies land troops in the Gulf of Saros, which is considered not improbable.

BULGARIAN PLENIPOTENTIARIES..

Sofia, Nov. 22.—Dr. S. Danef, President of the Bulgarian parliament, General Savov, Bulgarian commander-in-chief, and General Fitchoff, the chief of staff of the Bulgarian army, have been appointed Bulgarian plenipotentiaries for the negotiations of an armistice between the Turkish and Bulgarian armies. They will proceed immediately to the Thessalonica lines to meet the Turkish plenipotentiaries there.

FIGHTING IS RESUMED.

London, Nov. 22.—Fighting continues today along the entire line of fortifications at Tchatalia, according to dispatches from Constantinople. The Bulgarians are continuing their efforts to break through the Turkish lines, but hitherto have been prevented from doing so by the fire of Turkish warships.

CANADA AND BRITANNIA.

Canada is put to shame by the four little dependencies of Great Britain known as the Malay States, as they have offered the Mother Land an armored cruiser to cost about $12,000,000. Think of that. The amount to be paid in five years if possible.

These States are governed without a constitution, the chiefs being consulted by the British Governor on all important matters. The population is 1,100,000. Tin mining is the chief industry. Before being taken possession of by Britain the territory was in a horrible state, the pirates of all Asia making their headquarters there. The States are now the most peaceful and law-abiding of any similar Crown-governed possession.

Because Hon. R. L. Borden proposes to back up the hand of Great Britain with an emergency grant of about $30,000,000, a great yell goes up from the Liberal camp.

The time has come when Canada must assert her rights as the brightest gem in the crown of this great Empire. But with these rights must come responsibilities. We must show the world, like the glorious little Malay States, that we are behind the Mother Country, and that in dealing with her they have also to deal with us.

As the Toronto Mail said in a recent issue, so far from being an acknowledgment of independence, the rendering of Canadian aid to the British navy would be a tangible proof of this country's practical independence. It would be a notice to the world—and particularly to any power harboring hostile designs upon Great Britain or upon any other country within the Empire—that Canada is no longer merely a part to the guardian navy of the Empire, but she has become a helper to that navy. How is it that those who have so much to say about Canada's autonomy cannot keep out of their references to an offensive tone towards the Mother Country? Why be saucy to the great power from whom we derive our political being to whose genius for free government we owe our autonomy? The opponents of naval emergency aid are always courteous in their mention of foreign powers. Why do they think it necessary to be unamiably towards the Mother Country, who has always encouraged the taking on of national responsibility by the Canadian people, and has never sought to curtail in the smallest degree the rights conceded to us?

And above all, why should there be boasting about autonomy that means simply doing as we please towards the Mother Country and towards foreign countries alike, and continuing to put our trust in the British navy for the defense of our commerce, and for the shielding of that independence which so much is said? So long as we look to the British navy as the bulwark of our freedom and the very first line of our defense against aggression, let us talk modestly, even humbly, about our autonomy.

If Canada can exalt her horn today among the young nations of the world and rejoice in her bounding progress, it is because she has been un molested by hostile or grasping powers for the last hundred years, during that time she has been under the unequal protection of the Mistress of the Seas, and there has been none to make Canada afraid. Not only has Britain given us, in instalment by instalment, that autonomy of which too many vain and ungrateful words are a wailings said, but she has seen that no foreign nation has detracted from it, or retarded her growth. Canada has flourished under British protection, until she has a sea-home command of a value approaching half a billion dollars a year. And not a warship, not a naval gun, did Canada provide for the defence of her ocean-line commerce, of her sea routes or of her coasts until the Laurier scheme was produced. In the literal sense of the word Canada remains a dependency of Britain—a dependency for naval defence.

And now when it is proposed that Canada, out of the abundance of the national purse, should be called upon for the protection of Britain's navy, shall render emergency assistance to make stronger that navy, Laurier's newspapers forbid. They would have her continue to be thus dependent until she has spent long years to construct a separatist navy at great cost. They appear to think emergency aid would be an excess of gratitude on the part of a dominion for which they have plans. But gratitude would call for much more than this country is a position to give. It is merely enlightened self-interest on the part of Canada to lend all the assistance she can to keep Britain's power supreme. If naval supremacy were lost to Britain, Canada would not longer have an autonomy whether nominal or real, to brag about.

In rendering emergency aid to the British navy this country is acting on the true political instinct that has guided it throughout its history. By that decision, as by its vote of the 21st of September, 1911, the country elects to remain in the British Empire. Among the many and great advantages of that connection one to be specially mentioned in this relation is that of the economy of naval defence. As long as Canada remains within the Empire she will have the protection of the Imperial navy, her share in the cost of maintaining which will be small by comparison with the cost of building up and maintaining a purely Canadian navy adequate for Canada's defence.

WHO PAYS THE DUTY?

Liberal papers tell us that if the duty was taken off articles coming in from the United States they would be lowered in price. We have had an illustration that this does not always follow, during the past summer.

When on June 12th, the duty on cement was cut in half many people expected that cement would be cheaper, but such was not the case as no change was made in cement prices.

On November 1st, when the duty was restored some people thought cement prices would be advanced. Few, if any, expected that, with the duty restored, the price of cement in Alberta would be reduced by 25 cents per barrel. This, however, was the case, as on November 5th the Canada Cement Company, Limited, issued a circular letter to their customers, advising them that in the Province of Alberta the above reduction would take place.

Who pays the duty, the producer or the consumer?

Premier Sifton added another five millions to the debt of Alberta last week in England. He will now be able to declare a surplus to the people of Alberta when the Alberta Legislature meets in the spring.

The Grain Growers' Guide continues to ask the farmer "Has protection made you rich?" Well, we will let the leading Liberal organ of Alberta answer that question. It informs us that over thirty pioneer farmers of the Portage La Prairie, Manitoba, district alone are retiring this fall with complements ranging from $75,000 to $250,000. Every dollar has been made out of their farms. Several of these men are still in the prime of manhood.

Protection has, therefore, made them rich.
The Panama tolls have been fixed by President Taft, and containing the clauses which announce the determination of the United States to defy international treaties and break her pledged word. The tolls are to be $1.20 per ton, with a reduction of 10 per cent. to vessel—passing in ballast, and on naval vessels, transports, etc., 50c per ton displacement. United States coastal shipping was exempted by Congress from those tolls, and it is to this exemption that Great Britain has so strongly objected. The estimate of United States authorities is that the canal will be self-sustaining in about twenty years.

Professor William Clark, who for over a quarter of a century was so closely connected with Trinity College, Toronto, and a preacher of great ability, died a few days ago. He was born in Abernethy, Scotland, on March 26, 1829, and was educated in the Grammar School, the University of Aberdeen and Oxford University. After filling some important church appointments in England, Professor Clark was chosen one of Trinity's teachers in 1881, and continued his connection there until he retired about four years ago. He was idolized by Trinity's students from the day of his first class until his retirement. He was a member of various Scottish societies in Toronto.

THE WEST AGAINST THE EAST AGAIN.

(Calgary Albertan)
Sir George Ross, the new leader of the opposition in the senate, is a cultured gentleman, able and eloquent, but it is a matter of some disappointment that the Liberals could not find some person for the position who is right on the tariff issue.

FARMERS MUST BUILD GRANARIES.

Winnipeg, Nov. 17.—What is going to happen in the shipment of the grain through the lake and ocean outlets this fall is hard to predict, according to a statement by James Carleton, one of the most prominent grain men in Canada. Mr. Carleton says:
"It is fact that the terminals are already so badly congested that it takes ten days to get a vessel un-loaded. The bulk of the wheat consumed all through the New England and Eastern States, and practically all the export wheat of the U. S., goes through the port of Buffalo. In addition to this, thirty-five percent of the export grain from the Canadian west goes through that port. The American railways east of Buffalo are already congested and they have recently increased the rate on grain."

"I was over in England only a short time ago and asked prominent owners, why more vessels are not available for ocean freight, and especially grain, as the rate on the latter is so good. They replied that rates are good everywhere and it is impossible to get vessels to carry all the ocean tonnage offered. This in spite of the fact that every ship-year is filled with orders."

"If farmers would only consider that every fall when they rush their grain on the market and expect the railways to move such vast quantities in such a short time they are simply taking the most direct method of forcing down the market, they would see that they should have granaries and keep the grain as the market absorbs it. The vast quantities of grain moved by the railways in the Canadian West this fall has had the effect of reducing prices, as has been predicted for some years past. Today the grain is moving to the head of the lake faster than it can be taken from there to its destination."

Eckville

Still they come. Mr. French is building on Main St. and will shortly open a butcher shop. Ed. Mizra is building a livery and feed barn which will be a credit to the town.

A barber will shortly start business in J. Clark's room. A traveller passing through last week from the west, had a mastodon's bone, found during railway construction work near Myle Creek. By the size of the bone, the animal must have been considerably larger than an elephant. Old timers must have found the tall timber here.

Matt Folsom was married last week, and on Friday evening gave a dance in the social hall. Everybody wishes Matt all happiness.
Mrs. Olson and family have left for the States.

WILL REINTRODUCE THE HIGHWAYS BILL

Killed by Liberals

Lipposition through Liberal Majority in Senate Block Legislation Last Session and Held up Bill Million Dollars in Subsidies.

The announcement that the Government intends to reintroduce the Canada Highways Improvement Act, which was killed by the Liberal majority in the Senate at the close of the last session, shows that the Liberal government does not intend to be prevented by one setback from carrying out its policy of federal aid to the highways was a most important feature of the platform which the people of Canada approved at the last general election in placing the present ministry in power. The bill introduced by Hon. Frank Cochrane last session was intended to make good the promise made to the people. The Liberal party in Parliament, by means of the Liberal majority in the Senate, succeeded in the dying hour of the session in preventing the passage of the Cochrane bill and the expenditure of one million dollars.

WHAT IT MEANT.

The amounts provided in the estimates on a population basis and lost to the provinces through the action of the Liberal Opposition were as follows:

Ex-Mayor of Wetaskiwin Takes Action Against V. C. French

Wetaskiwin, Alta., Nov. 20.—Ex-Mayor Alex. Knox, who returned from a three months' absence from the city Monday morning, has commenced suit against V. C. French, publisher of The Wetaskiwin Times, for defamatory libel. The cause of the suit is based on an article published in the issue of August 26th referring to the departure of the then Mayor Knox and suggesting that an audit of the city's books had been made. The preliminary hearing was given yesterday before A. S. Rosen, al justice of the peace, and the case was ordered to be taken to a higher court. Mr. Knox took charge of his own case, and Sydney B. F. Hods, K. C., of Edmonton, acted for the defendant.

Eckville

A dance was held in the new store of the Eckville and Tilly Co-operative Co. here last Friday. Every body appreciated the good time. The music was splendid, and the songsters, Miss K. K. Miles, Miss M. Warburton and Mr. Linde added much to the enjoyment of the evening. The store will open for business on the evening of a week, and it is hoped will continue with the success that attended the opening dance.

Dr. Evans reports the sale of several business lots. The purchaser contemplates building.
Messrs. Langer Bros. are thrashing in this vicinity.
Victory to the dance last week noted with pleasure the new hall in course of erection. Another thing brought forcibly to their notice was the piles of lumber, shingles, etc., lying on the site as supposed to be the street all-weather. The remarks in this latter connection were varied according to the force of introduction.

ARE YOUR HANDS CHAPPED

Zam-Buk Will Cure Them.

The particular danger of chapped hands and cold cracks, which together from the pain is that the cold is likely to penetrate and set up inflammation, festering, or blood-poison. Directly the skin is broken by a cut, graze or scratch, or chafed and cracked by the action of the cold winds and water, the one necessary precaution is to apply Zam-Buk freely.

The pure herbal juices from which Zam-Buk is prepared are so perfectly combined and refined that the immediate effect of these Zam-Buk dressings is soothing, antiseptic, and healing. Pain and inflammation are allayed, disease germs expelled from the wound or sore, and the latter is quickly healed.

Zam-Buk is not only a powerful healer and skin preserver, it is strongly antiseptic and germicidal, and so forms the ideal protection for skin against disease germs.

It quickly heals the various rashes, chilblains, cold sores, etc.
Mrs. O. M. Phoen, Neuchatel, Alta., writes—"I must tell you how pleased I am with Zam-Buk. My husband had an old frost-bite on his foot for many years, and had tried almost every known remedy without any effect, but the first application of Zam-Buk seemed to help him so much that he persevered and the sore is now cured. We would not be without Zam-Buk in the house."

Zam-Buk is also a sure cure for sores, eczema, ulcers, abscesses, scalp sores, blood-poison, bad leg, eruption, etc. Its pure herbaceous position makes it the ideal balm for babies and young children. All druggists and stores sell Zam-Buk 50c. box or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price. Try also Zam-Buk soap, 25c. tablet.

BETSY'S FIRST PLACE

By Owen Lott

The Moffatts, who lived three doors away last just became the proud owners of a motor-car, and little Mrs. Pendleton's soul was wrung with envy. Mr. Pendleton endeavored to comfort her by pointing out that she was now indisputably the best-dressed woman in the street; Mrs. Moffatt, till then her greatest rival, having taken to wearing a cap like a German bandanna's, a voluminous dust-coat, and a veil like a perforated blanket.

Mrs. Pendleton refused to be comforted, however; indeed, she was slightly hurt at the nature of the consolation.

"I always did dress better than she," she declared. "Look at the hats she used to wear! Besides if Mr. Moffatt can afford a motor, I don't see why we can't!"

Mr. Pendleton gruffly pointed out that Moffatt earned twice his income, and furthermore, had no family. He endeavored to drop into long-acre and see if he could manage to change the twins for a second-hand car.

Mrs. Pendleton hysterically said it was inhuman of him to suggest such a thing even in fun; if it were meant in earnest, she would rather die than be asked to do so.

Mr. Pendleton, omitting his farewell kiss for the first time since their marriage, walked out of the room and slammed the door in a manner which hinted that he had gone for ever.

As he passed the Moffatt's house he was waylaid by Mr. Moffatt—on previous days the best-dressed man in the city—clad in a blue ducques overall suit, his face and hands like an impressionist's picture in oil.

"Haven't such a thing as a spanner about you?" said Mr. Moffatt.
Mr. Pendleton, with biting sarcasm, regretted that he had forgotten to bring one with him that morning.

"Taking a day off?" he asked, recalling from Mr. Moffatt's proffered hand a spanner.
"Can't find time for the city nowadays," explained Mr. Moffatt. "Chap I bought the car from said a chap could look after it. Suppose I'm too old for it or something. Quite sure you're a spanner."

Mr. Pendleton assured him that the nearest approach he had to anything of that sort was a pair of nail-clippers, and, again avoiding the friendly but greasy hand, continued his journey. Mr. Moffatt solemnly wondered why everybody shunned him nowadays.

Shortly after Mr. Pendleton's departure, Betsy entered the breakfast-room, and found her mistress tearing up sympathizing with the twins because they could not go for nice rides in "honk-honks" like other people.

"You'd rather have your pram, mum," said Betsy.
"Prims have to be pushed," said Mrs. Pendleton peevishly.
"So have motor-cars," returned Betsy; "and they're a deal heavier."

"Goodness," said her mistress, with as much assurance as an automobile advertisement, "practically never break down."

Betsy shook her head sceptically. Owing to Mrs. Pendleton suffering from an acute attack of neuritis, she was unable to get out of bed, and she was only with his mind made up.

"We can't possibly afford to keep a car," he announced at the breakfast-table, "but I'll hire one this afternoon and take you out for a spin."

"Run into brick wall with you," said Betsy, sotto voce, "and then you'll have to keep it."

"So you and the twins be ready about two o'clock. Mind you're punctual, because I shall hire it by the hour."

Betsy, passing behind her master with a dish of kidneys, nearly upset him down his back in her anxiety to catch her mistress's eye.

Mr. Pendleton, as the dish caught him a crack on the head, turned and eyed her.
"Oh, yes," he said, rubbing his head, "you're to come, too, to look after the twins!"

Betsy smiled her gratification, and it was only with an effort that she restrained herself from giving him a scolding pat.

Promptly at two o'clock, Betsy, so disguised with an enormous pair of goggles that, to use her own words, "you wouldn't tell her from a real lady," seated herself with the twins in the rear seat.

Mr. Moffatt, as they drove past, balled them cheerfully.
"Thinking of going in for one?" he asked, with a wave of his hand.
"Yes," said little Mrs. Pendleton, with a bright smile. "Well, we are thinking about it. Ted," she defended herself, as her husband eyed her rebukingly, "When they make you a partner we'll get one."

spring into the car.
"My children!" she gasped, ignoring the amazed occupant. Fumbling wildly amongst she levers she had just started the car on what would have been a career of destruction, when Mr. Pendleton clambered in and took charge of the wheel. Wasting no time in explanations, he set off in hot pursuit.

A pale, lauged young man, strutting lightly out of a shop near by, bearing a cap of patrol, was just in time to see both his car and his fiancée speedily disappear.

The mildest man would be annoyed at having his motor stolen but when his future happiness depends on it, a car, annoyance becomes positive anger.

"There's a black gone off with my petrol!" panted the shopkeeper, hurrying on the scene.
Petrol cried the young man wildly. "He's got my car and my girl!"

Hurriedly re-entering the shop, he made frenzied bids for the fastest car they had. Three minutes later, a blood-thirsty avenger, he set out in pursuit.

Betsy, all unconscious of the rapidly lengthening tail which was wagging after her, was devoting all her mind to keeping her car with the precious twins in the middle of the road.

Country drivers are notoriously and mulishly obstinate as to their rights on the King's Highway, but when they heard Betsy's furious "Honk-honk!" and caught sight of her bearing down upon them, they did not stop to argue as to who was on the right side of the road. They just pulled into the hedge as quickly as possible, and breathed prayers of thanksgiving when they found themselves safely there.

A young policeman, with a keen desire for the safety of the public, endeavored to bar Betsy's wild flight by standing in the middle of the road with a cane outstretched. For a moment he stood there, as cold and as stern as Fate, and then, his nerves failing, he gave a yell and alarm and dived for the nearest ditch. By the time he had recovered himself the tail of Betsy's comet had passed, and it was with a trembling hand that he jotted down the number of the plate.

Ten miles farther on the petrol of Betsy's car became exhausted and, muttering, she clambered thankfully to the ground. Picking up the twins, she tottered to the nearest cottage.

A few minutes later Mr. and Mrs. Pendleton and the young lady dashed upon the scene. Another minute and the lauged young man also alighted. "My babies!" shrieked Mrs. Pendleton, gazing wildly around for the remnants.

The young man, too furious for speech by reason of his fiancée in a vice-like grip and shake his fist threateningly at Mr. Pendleton.

Mrs. Pendleton was on the verge of fainting, when Betsy stepped calmly out from a cottage door.
"They've just had some milk," she said softly, "and now they've dropped into a nice slumber. They're tired, poor little things. They're hungry," she added frankly, "I don't wonder at it."

After apologizing to the young man, Mr. Pendleton asked his wife if she were ready to go home.
"Yes," said Mrs. Pendleton decisively. "But Betsy, the babies, and I are fairly tired. I never before had another motor as long as I live. And don't you dare," she added, with true feminine disregard for facts, "ever to suggest buying one again!"

ALL THE DIFFERENCE

The only thing I find against you is that your washing bill is far too extravagant. Last week you put six blouses in the wash. Why, Jane, my own daughter never does more than two.

"Ah, that may be, mum," replied Jane, "but I've told you. Your daughter's sweetheart is a bank clerk, while young man is a chimney-sweep. It makes a difference, mum."

THE DIFFERENCE

A certain trust officer recently made a call at the home of a pupil who had been attending school a week and inquired of the lad's mother, a genial-looking Irishwoman, the cause.

"Why," she said, "he's now past his father's age, and he's a father himself. I never before had another motor as long as I live. And don't you dare," she added, with true feminine disregard for facts, "ever to suggest buying one again!"

"Schooling enough," repeated the officer. "Why, I don't finish my education until I was twenty-three."

"So that at," asked the mother, in amazement. Then, re-answering, after a moment's thoughtful pause: "Well, sir, you see, that boy of ours has brains."

The varnisher seems to be the cause of all his woe:
He tightens half a dozen bolts, but still it doesn't go.
Then he tries steering gear, but finds no trouble there.
Till, wet with perspiration, then, he quits in sheer despair.

He squats beside the road, to give his brain a chance to cool.
And ponders on his training at the correspondence school;
And when he starts the job once more, he finds it by his side.
The cause of all his trouble is—he's out of gasoline.

LABOR AND LIQUOR.

The best temperance sermons are not preached from pulpits, neither are the most effective temperance lectures delivered from public platforms. Every day the world of business and the world of labor preach and teach on temperance but in total abstinence. Here is a state ment recently made in a Philadelphia newspaper by a constructor of elevators, in talking about the requirements of his labor union:

"So essential are steady hands and bright wits in our trade that under the rules of our union no drinking man may stay in the organization. The first time a member of the union goes on a job under the influence of liquor he is suspended a month and fined. For the second offense he is summarily expelled, without hope of reinstatement. It's pretty drastic treatment, but we found it the wisest way to deal with men."—American Union.

TWO BALLOTS.
Along in November, when chill was the weather,

Two ballots were cast in the box together.

They nestled up close like brother to brother;

You couldn't tell one of the votes from the other.

They were both run votes and sanc tioned the House plan,

But one was cast by a whiskey seller and the other by a Sunday School man.

The Sunday School man had always been noted—

For fighting saloons except when he's at the head of the line.

He piled up his prayers with a holy perfection,

And tore them all down on the day of election.

The Sunday School man—no man could be truer—

Kept busy all summer denouncing the brewer,

But his ardor cooled off with the change in the weather;

And along in the autumn they voted together.

The foxy old brewer was jolly and mellow,

Said he, "I admire that Sunday School fellow;

He's true to his church, to his party he's truer,

He talks for the Lord, and he votes for the brewer."

—Selected.

THE TIE THAT BINDS.

Oh, yes, I used to be an active worker in the W. C. T. U., but—

How often our workers hear this declaration, followed perhaps by a long train of present day excuses:

"Somebody did something I did not like," or some policy pursued by the union displaced mildly.

I belong to such and such a club and such and such a society," all good per se, but none of them seeking the end for which the W. C. T. U. lives, viz: The destruction of the whole drink business and the establishment of total abstinence principles in individual and prohibition in the state.

There may be physical reasons why a woman may not engage in the activities of the union, there may even be financial limitations why she can not pay the dues, but there is no reason, physical or material, why once she has subscribed her protest upon the home she should ever with draw her name and influence from its company, and if she takes con sciousness of her reason for not doing so, she will find it a defeat but to lay down the arms be fore the victory.

The enemy does not know the Woman's Christian Temperance Union has a time to discontinue it as the "crowd that never gives up."

A good woman who had domi nant temperance work for years and who had suffered bitterly from al liction, said recently: "When I gave up my former work I had my self fully convinced that I had taken the narrow and was going to raise chickens for the rest of my life, but after some campaign work in which the 'dres' were sorely de feated, I felt it was a poor time for one who had claimed to have enlisted for life, to stop work. When I saw the howling mobs go through the streets pulling over the heads of right-minded, I could only think: 'My people are destroyed for lack of knowledge.'"

And so she buckled on the harness again, girding it a little tighter to remain for "life or during the war."

By Old Sport

The Australian rugby team touring the Dominion were beaten at the game played in a downpour of rain, and the ground was very sod den and the half heavy. Combination was out of the question and the vic tory of the visitors was a foregone con clusion. Their fast open dribbling won them the game.

LACROSSE.
British Columbia amateur lacrosse officials are taking the initiative in organizing a National Amateur Lacrosse Association to govern the game in this country. They believe this will prevent any friction arising between the leagues in connection with the Mann Cup.

BOXING.
Everything now is clear for a de cision over the lightweight cham pionship of Canada. Tommy Burns tried to create a champion himself, but the sporting public would not stand for it. The two men Hayley and Hyland who have caused all the controversy on the matter have at last come to terms and signed an agreement to fight it out in Cal gary on Dec. 20th.

FOOTBALL.
Princeton and Yale in their an nual football played a draw of 0-0. Everything pointed to a win for Princeton, as they were lead ing, and the umpire's whistle was expected to blow when H. A. P. of Yale, brought off the most un expected piece of play seen on the ground. After giving a signal for a drop kick, he dropped the ball, passing from Ketchum, dropped the ball, and kicking it on the re bound, it sailed straight for goal, a distance of over 50 yards, just clearing the bar between the posts and tying the game. It was a mighty fine effort, and shows a game never lost or won till the whistle sounds.

OLD COUNTRY FOOTBALL.
Aston Villa still lead the first league with 20 points for 13 games. North Forest are at the head of the Second Division of the League with 17 points for 13 games.

Crystal Palace head the Southern League with 18 points for 13 games. Glasgow Rangers head the Scot tish League with 20 points for 13 games.

The three Southern teams on the First Division of the league are hav ing a rough time this season. They are among the bottom four, and their supporters are feeling very downhearted.

Chelsea have only won 3 out of 11 games, Wolves have won 1 out of 11, and the Hot-spurs have not yet won a game out of 9 played.

Not's County are at the bottom, having played 9 games, drawn 1 and lost 8.

The South Indians continue to win, but as the opposing teams drop out their style of play, they are finding it much harder to win than before.

BASKETBALL.
The first series of the Basketball League is over, the Y.M.C. No. 1 team winning all their matches, leaving the champions. The Elcomen's team that the men were getting smaller and that a larger number had to be rejected every year on account of some physical weakness.

In the Grimean war the standard of height was 5 feet 2 in. In the Bos war it was 5 feet 4 in. In the Grimean war very few were rejected as un fit, in the Bos war over half those offering had to be rejected.

Alarmed at this, the Government appointed commissioners to enquire into the cause. After studying the matter thoroughly, these commis sioners reported that the cause was not poverty or labor conditions, as had been supposed, but drink.

Although not temperance men, they said that a quantity of drink that would not cause drunkenness, may cause alcoholism. This is a con dition in which a man may seem well but he is not well. He is mor ally to any disease, especially can cer, consumption, British disease, syphilitic stroke, etc., and when ill has as good a chance of recov ery.

Three things seem to be established by these commissions beyond dis pute. First, the race is degenerating, that is, getting smaller, weaker and less subject to disease.

Second, the cause is drink, for which in the last century over seven mil lions of dollars annually. Third, that is often called moderate drink ing may produce terrible results, es pecially to the young.

These conclusions have been con firmed by similar commissions in France and Germany. Indeed, the main facts are taught in our own schools.

But worse than all this, drink keeps many away from God the greatest calamity that can befall anyone and the poverty caused by it keeps the wife and children from church and Sunday School. What a heavy burden we would be if freed from this curse. Poverty and crime would be almost wiped out, insanity, epilepsy and all other sicknesses would be greatly reduced and the Kingdom of God would advance with rapid strides.

We appeal especially to moderate drinkers, for the sake of the young, and to all who love their country, to assist in spreading a knowledge of these truths.

Hamilton Temperance Federation.

was only two points behind. This league has given quite an impetus to the cause and the players have shown a fine amount of enthusiasm. A second series starts again this week. This game is fast becoming a great positive for indoor lovers of sport, and it is hoped that it will eventually rival other games. It has certainly given a large number of sport lovers a chance to pass their evenings away in healthy exercise, at a time when there was nothing else doing. The following is a list of matches played.

CURLING.
Everything is in shape for the commencement of the curling season except the ice. The weather is not cold enough to make good ice, so proceedings are held over for a time. The curlers are very anxious to get into practice, but they recognize that this open weather is of great benefit to the people in general.

BOWLING.
Red Deer are not to be left out in the cold even when bowling is con sidered. On Friday night last a team journeyed down to Innisfail and played the local champions of that town, putting it all over them by winning all three games by an aggregate total of 540 pins. Red Deer team consisted of J. A. Morgan, R. Neilson, R. LeClair, J. McConnell and G. England.

Lacombe were having their strength with Red Deer last night, and the return match with Innisfail takes place tonight at Morgan's bowling alley.

A bowling league for the winter is being formed, with teams from Red Deer, Lacombe, Innisfail, Bow den and Olds.

HOCKEY.
The Didsbury Pioneer comes out with some good suggestions to the hockey team of that town, and ad vances a League for the smaller towns between Calgary and Edmon ton, which is a very good sugges tion, but it might have gone fur ther, and instead of being run by the A.A.H.A. for suspending the Didsbury Club, it should have got over the people responsible for the misdoings. We want good hockey for every town, large and small, and the best way to get it is to back up the A.A.H.A.

DREAMSTICKS.

THE GREAT HALL WAS FILLED WITH APPLAUSE WHEN THE SPEAKER SAID THE FOLLOWING: "J. R. MORGAN CAN RAISE $1,000,000 ON HIS CHECK ANY MINUTE, BUT THE MAN WHO IS RAISING A LARGE FAMILY ON $9 A WEEK IS A GREATER FINANCIER THAN MORGAN."

LET HIM TALK!

RAILROADS AND INDUSTRIES

They Give a Town Stability and Per manency

It can be safely said that nearly every live Board of Trade and aggre gative Publicity Agent in Western Can ada today is out for every industry possible to obtain. Railroads and industries give a town stability and per manency. And while it is often de clared that agriculture is the back bone of the country, how fortunate is it that town which has a monthly payroll of $25,000 of railroad and in dustrial employees, when there is even a partial crop failure. Merchants are able to meet their obligations prompt ly and there is no set back in obtain ing of credit for a year, or until an other good crop is harvested and nor mal financial conditions are resumed. Without railroads or industries there is no certainty of any town ever hav ing a large population or necessities in crease in the number of businesses necessary to serve the community. Without these industries in nearly every case there is a limit to popula tion as well as to development.

Two young men were lurching to gether when one of them mentioned a mutual acquaintance.

"Brown is a good fellow, no doubt," said the other, "a little stuffy, but somehow or other he never quitted me."

"I suppose he knew it wouldn't be any use," murmured the first speaker. "You are usually broke!"

THE W. E. LORD CO. LTD.

Opening of Parliament

Ottawa, Nov. 21.--With all the pomp and ceremony of an old world function the Duke of Connaught opened this afternoon the second session of the twelfth Parliament of Canada. Weather conditions were ideal.

SPEECH FROM THE THRONE.

"Honorable gentlemen of the Senate, Gentlemen of the House of Commons: I have during the past summer spent several months in visiting the principal cities and towns of Canada from coast to coast, and have endeavored to make myself, as far as possible, acquainted with the conditions prevailing. It has been a source of the deepest satisfaction to me to see the almost universal prosperity which reigns throughout the Dominion and to witness the energy and enterprise which are shown in developing the rich resources of the land."

"It is most gratifying to observe that the trade of the Dominion is increasing rapidly and steadily, the aggregate trade for the last fiscal year being the largest on record. During the present year the same steady increase has been noted and it is anticipated that the total volume of our trade for the present fiscal year will greatly surpass that of any previous year in our history."

"The revenues of the Dominion continue to expand and in every branch of business and industry there is a remarkable activity which gives assurance of continued progress and prosperity."

"A copious and welcome stream of immigration has poured into our country during the past summer. The volume of immigration during the present year is greater than during any corresponding period of our history and in larger measure than used to have been drawn from the British Islands."

"The labors of the husbandman have been blessed with an ample return and, although in some districts the weather has been unfavorable for the harvest, it is expected that the total value of our field crops will be greater than in any previous year."

"Papers will be laid before you which embody trade arrangements that have been unannounced between the Dominion and certain of His Majesty's possessions in the West Indies. It is hoped that these arrangements will prove of great advantage not only to these possessions but to Canada as well. A bill will be introduced for the purpose of carrying this agreement into effect."

"During the past summer four members of my government conferred in London with His Majesty's government on the question of naval defence. Important discussions took place and conditions have been disclosed which in the opinion of my advisers render it imperative that the effective naval forces of the empire should be strengthened without delay."

"My advisers are convinced that it is the duty of Canada at this juncture to afford reasonable and necessary aid for that purpose. A bill will be introduced accordingly."

"A contract for the construction of the Hudson's Bay Railway from Le Pas to Port Nelson has been awarded and the work is being pushed forward with all possible speed."

"It is abundantly evident that the highways of Canada constitute an important part of an efficient scheme of transportation. The necessity for improving our existing facilities in this regard is manifest, and a bill will be introduced for the purpose of enabling the Dominion to co-operate with the provinces in the accomplishment of this most desirable purpose. It is satisfactory to know that the proposal of my government to co-operate with the governments of the various provinces in promoting the agricultural industry has met with hearty approval. The appropriations which were made last session in connection therewith have proved to be of marked benefit to the country."

"After a careful study of the whole question my advisers are convinced that co-operation with the provinces on well defined terms and conditions will achieve the best results along the lines of agricultural construction. And such policy to be effective must be continuous. Accordingly, a bill will be introduced by which a substantial amount of money will be appropriated from the consolidated revenue fund for the purpose of assisting the provinces for a term of years in this highly important national work."

"My government has succeeded in securing certain reductions in cable rates and will continue its efforts to obtain still further reductions. Under existing legislation the charters of the banks will expire on July 1 next. A bill revising and extending these charters will be submitted for your consideration and approval."

"Several other bills will be submitted for increased representation of the provinces of Alberta, Saskatchewan and Manitoba in the Senate. Gentlemen of the house of commons--"

"The accounts for the last fiscal year will be laid before you. It will be satisfactory to you to learn that the revenue has been ample to cover both ordinary and capital expenditures."

"The estimates for the next fiscal year will be submitted at an early date. They have been prepared with due regard on the one hand for necessary developments of the resources of the Dominion."

"Honorable gentlemen of the Senate, I invite your earnest consideration of the subjects to which I have alluded and I invoke the blessing of divine providence upon your deliberations."

Have Doubtful Seed Tested For Vitality

Owing to the fact that climatic conditions have again been unfavorable in certain districts to the satisfactory maturity of seed grain, we wish to draw the attention of every farmer to the advisability of having his seed tested for germination."

Oats are particularly subject to injury by frost, and in certain stages of their growth are rendered worthless for seed purposes even though they may look perfectly plump and sound outwardly. Others again, undoubtedly frozen, are not seriously affected in vitality. As a germination test is the only sure indication of the grain's condition in such cases, we would strongly advise having all doubtful oats tested."

Plut is also subject to injury by frost as well as moisture, and its vitality may be considerably lowered by these factors. Barley is affected likewise and often shows a low percentage of growth when cut after frost. Wheat, on the other hand, is much less liable to injury and will usually germinate readily even when frozen quite severely. It may, however, be rendered unfit for seed by frost or through excessive moisture. Plut and wheat should be tested, as it is often greatly reduced in vitality. We would also suggest having tested any other cereal or fodder seeds that may be suspected of not being up to the full standard of germination."

In sending samples to be tested the following points should be remembered:

1. All samples are tested free of charge.
 2. Seed bags suitable for sending samples may be had on application to the Dominion Seed Laboratory, Calgary, Alta.
 3. About half such a bagful (1000 grains) is ample for a germination test.
 4. If possible sample should be cleaned before sending.
 5. Postage should be prepaid at the rate of 2 cents for 4 ounces and 1 cent for each additional 4 ounces.
 6. It is unnecessary to enclose stamps for a reply.
 7. The usual time necessary for a test is four days, but when a reply is made a longer period is required.
 8. All samples should be plainly marked with the name and address of the sender, together with an identification designation when more than one is sent.
 9. All samples should be sent to the Dominion Seed Laboratory, Calgary, Alta., not to any individual member of the staff.
- In addition to the above, this department, when required, tests any kind of cereal or fodder seeds for purity from noxious weeds. Samples sent in for such purposes should contain not less than one pound of the larger grains and two ounces of flax, grasses and clovers.

Old Country Bookings

The bookings for the trips to the Old Country this year will outstrip any previous year. The bookings, C.P.R. agent, and Mr. George Lind say report a large number going from Red Deer and district. The bookings for the Old Country are of importance to this fact, but there is no getting away from it that it is one of the very best advertisements that Canada has got. Very few people who come from the Old Country fail to take a trip home in about from five to seven years, and a large number of these are women. Now, when we come to think about it, a trip to England for three or four months will cost about $500 per head. It seems a lot of money for a holiday, but it does not mean more than $80 or $90 a year, which looked at in that light is just a trifle. Now, if you are going from that expenditure? First of all there is the journey on the train, and on that trip one sees more of this great country than when they first come up here, because they learned the conditions and understand them, consequently they are more interested in what they see. Then there is the beautiful trip down the St. Lawrence and across the Atlantic Ocean, which is worth more from a health point of view than all the doctor's medicine in the world. Then there is putting your feet on the old soil again. We are all proud Canadians--if we are not, we had better get out; but still one can excuse one's feelings at the thought of trading the soil of the native land. Then there is the joy of the meeting, father, mother, sister and brother, as the case may be; that something that cannot be told, it has to be experienced. Old faces are seen and old friends, as well as relatives, are told all about this great country. Its advantages, its drawbacks and its opportunities. The question on everyone's lips is, how did it manage it. Why it cost him 100 pounds to come, and he has only been away a few years, and we have told all our life here and we haven't enough money saved to go on a week's holiday, and we are told, That fact weighs very heavily with the people in the Old Land, and to some of them it speaks more than all the advertising matter ever put before the public, and it is a very rare occasion for any one making a trip to the Old Country without at least one interesting and profitable life's efforts; so from an advertising view alone, that money is well spent, for if we can get one real good citizen for Canada for every $500 spent, we shall have no kick coming."

They go and they all come back, feeling happier for having once been permitted to see their loved ones, and it helps Canada.

Borden Naval Policy Same Now as When Leader of Opposition

Emergency Contribution First
Question of Permanent Naval Defence Mr. Borden Always Insisted Should Not Be Determined Before Being Passed by Electors.

The policy of the Borden Government in regard to the problem of naval defence will be absolutely consistent with the stand repeatedly taken by the Prime Minister when as leader of the Opposition he opposed the Laurier naval policy. Mr. Borden always insisted on two things, an emergency contribution in the event of an emergency being found to exist, and a reference to the electors of any measure of permanent naval defence.

Speaking in the House on January 12, 1910, Mr. Borden, on the day the Liberal navy bill was brought down by Sir Wilfrid Laurier, took strong ground in favor of first, an emergency contribution, and, secondly, consulting the people on the question of permanent naval defence. He characterized as humiliating, degrading and pauperizing the position that Canada should receive future safety at the hands and cost of the British taxpayer. To Sir Wilfrid Laurier he said, "Go on with your naval service. Proceed slowly, cautiously and surely. Lay your proposals before the people and give them, if necessary, opportunity to be heard, but do not forget that we are confronted with an emergency which may require this empire's aid before the proposed service is worth the money. In the face of such a situation, immediate, vigorous, earnest action is necessary. We have no dreadnoughts, we have no fleet, and we are not to be taken by surprise. We have the resources, and I trust the patriotism to provide a fleet unit or at least a Dreadnought without one moment's necessary delay. Or, in my opinion, this would be the better course, we can place the equivalent in cash at the disposal of the Admiralty to be used for naval defence under such conditions as we may prescribe. In taking this course we shall fulfill not only in the letter but in the spirit as well the resolution of March last, and what is infinitely more important we shall discharge a great patriotic duty to our country and to the whole empire."

AGAIN IN FEBRUARY.
The position taken by Mr. Borden and his followers on January 12 was emphasized on February 3, again on April 20, and yet again on November 12 in the same year. On February 3 Mr. Borden said that "to attempt to force a permanent policy of this kind upon the people of this country without giving them an opportunity of saying yes or nay with regard to it, would be one of the worst mistakes that could be made by any man who really favored that policy." Further on, "What the people of this country want, as far as any man can judge who has observed the currents public opinion, what the people of this country desire, is immediate and effective aid to the empire, and to have any proposals of a permanent character very carefully considered and matured, as they ought to be considered and matured, before any such policy is embarked upon, because there are a great many considerations that must be taken into account." Mr. Borden expressed confidence in the willingness of the candidates of French descent to cooperate with the English-speaking citizens. "Thus," he said, "let our aid be prompt and generous, so that it may bring to the mother country the assistance not only of material support but of a courage, a faith and a determination which shall proclaim able to friend and foe that whether in peace or war the empire is one and undivided." It will be recalled that when Mr. Borden concluded with an amendment calling for a contribution sufficient for the purchase of two battleships of the latest Dreadnought type, the Conservative members to a man rose and sang "God Save the King."

AND AGAIN IN APRIL.
On April 20 Mr. Borden again declared that "I regard the subject of permanent co-operation by Canada in the naval defence of the Empire as one that should properly be submitted to the people of this country before any plan of permanent co-operation is entered upon by Canada." In the same speech he said, "We stand as we have always stood in that respect on two considerations: First, that the emergency conditions of the empire do demand immediate and effective aid, and in the second place that before a basis of permanent co-operation in the naval defence of the empire is entered upon, the people of this country have a right to be consulted and to give their mandate." Concluding, he repeated that "the true solution, the wise solution, of the great problem that is before the people of Canada today would be in the first place, to bring immediate and effective aid in the manner I have already indicated to the House on the second reading of this bill, and in the second place, to mature more carefully and wisely the proposals for permanent co-operation by Canada in the naval defence of the empire, by bringing these proposals into parliament and discuss them, then to submit them to the people at a general election, and after that to have them carried into force according to the mandate and the direction of the free people of Canada."

IF HE WERE PREMIER.
On November 21, 1910, Mr. Borden gave the House an outline of the course he would follow if in power. "The government of this country," he said, "is able to ascertain and to know, if they take the proper action for that purpose, whether the conditions which face the empire at this time in respect of naval defence are grave. If we were in power we would endeavor to find that out, to get a plain, unvarnished answer to that question, and if the answer to that question, based upon the assurance of the government of the mother country and the report of the naval experts of the admiralty were such-and-I think it would be such-as to demand instant and effective action by this country, then I would appeal to parliament for immediate and effective aid, and if parliament did not give immediate and effective aid I would appeal from parliament to the people of the country. Then, sir, as to the permanent policy, I think the people have a right to be consulted. A permanent policy would have to be worked out and when that permanent policy had been worked out and explained to the people of Canada, to every citizen in this country, then it would be the duty of any government to go to the people of Canada to receive their mandate and accept and act upon their approval or disapproval of that policy."

Government Aids Water Transportation Moving the Wheat East.

Measures Taken for Safety of Vessels Bringing Grain Down From the Head of the Lakes.

Everything possible is being done by the government to prevent a main blockade this season, and the present outlook is that for the first time for years the wheat of the western farmers will be marketed without a serious obstruction. Navigation will be kept open until the latest possible period, and Hon. J. D. Hazen has given orders to the Marine and Fisheries Department to put its whole equipment at work in assisting shippers in transporting wheat from the head of the lakes eastward.

WILLING TO HELP.
A conference was held recently with representatives of the shipping interests on the Great Lakes, and they showed a willingness to co-operate with the government and the minister in preparing to do everything possible to make navigation safe after the time when ordinary water navigation usually ceases.

ICE BREAKERS AT WORK.
Arrangements have already been made to regard to lights, buoys, etc. A contract has also been made with the Great Lakes Dredging Co. of Port Arthur to have ice-breakers ready to break up the ice as the season opens. Negotiations are also proceeding between the government, shipping men and insurance men for favorable rates for the prolonged season of navigation.

THE FARMER WHO GETS AHEAD

He rotates his crops.
He kills-drains his land.
He keeps up good fences.
He has good pastures.
He has a good garden.
He keeps pure-bred stock.
He keeps dairy cows, hogs or both.
He breeds draft horses and does farm work with brood mares and growing colts.
He has a library with periodicals and standard works, and a musical instrument.
He helps his wife in the house when she needs it, has a spring vehicle for her to visit in and drives her to church himself.—Valley farmer.

DAIRY FARMING

Those Who Attend the Cows Should "Keep Cool"

No branch of agriculture requires the operator to "keep cool" more than dairy farming. No hot-headed ideal should be allowed to attend the cows. The attendant, to get the largest possible flow, must keep cool—that is, must never lose their heads, use loud talk, or be rough. The milk must be kept at a low temperature to be wholesome. Cream must be kept cool. To do this, ice or very cold water is necessary. Butter or cheese—in fact, all dairy products—must be kept away from the heat. "Keep cool" is always seasonable in dairy work. From the stable, in the consumer, everything in connection with the dairy business should have results when it is kept scrupulously clean and at a low temperature.

38,000 Children Made Happy
At the annual meeting of the Children's Happy Evening Association, held at the residence of the Countess of Zetland, London, the Countess of Jersey reported that during the past year 38,000 children had been made happy at an expense of ten cents per head.

A Fatal Street
In one street of Paris, the Champ-Elysées, there have been during the past twelve months, 350 accidents, of which 30 have proved fatal.

PERHAPS YOU'VE OBSERVED IT
"What's the good of having friends if you can't ask favors of them?" "That's right. But I've noticed that the man who has the most friends is the one who asks the fewest favors."

IF You had a sore place, and had to choose between two remedies, one of which went to the sore spot direct, and the other by a round-about way, and might never get there at all, which would you prefer?

When you have a cold, asthma, a sore chest, catarrh, or any lung trouble, you can select between two remedies. Peps, which goes to the sore spot direct, and any of the ordinary cough mixtures, cough drops, and dews, which go round to the lungs and breathing passages, but to the stomach, which is not ailing at all.

Don't ruin your stomach in an attempt to heal your throat and lungs. Peps go direct to the throat and lungs. Peps are tiny tablets containing certain medicinal ingredients, which when placed upon the tongue immediately turn into vapor, and are breathed down the air passages to the lungs. On their journey they soothe the inflamed and irritated membranes of the bronchial tubes, the delicate walls of the air passages, and finally enter and carry relief and healing to the capillaries and tiny air sacs in the lungs, dissolving catarrhs, catarrhs, bronchitis, colds, etc.

In a word, while no liquid or solid can get to the throat and air passages, these Peps fumes go there direct, and at once commence their work of healing.

Once you try them you will never use any other remedy but Peps for colds, coughs, sore throat, catarrhs, asthma, and the chest, "that night cough," and all breathing and lung troubles.

Have you seen this famous remedy? If not, cut out this article, write across it the name and date of this paper, and mail it (with 1c stamp to pay return postage) to Peps Co., Toronto.

A free trial packet will then be sent you. All druggists and grocery stores sell Peps at 10c. box.

J. W. Hey returned from his business trip east Monday evening. While away Mr. Hey visited all the leading cities between Chicago and Quebec, and purchased machinery for the Great West mill, Red Deer, and for a big mill in Manitoba. This machinery will make the Great West Lumber Co.'s mill here one of the most up-to-date in Canada. Mr. and Mrs. Hey expect to leave in a few days for their new home at the coast.

On Thursday evening, Nov. 26th, the Rev. Dr. Grant of Toronto, general superintendent of home missions of the Presbyterian Church in Canada, will give an address on the call of the homelands to the church. Dr. Grant has been associated with the west for a long time, having served both as minister and physician in Dawson City in the booming days of the Klondike gold rush. The meeting will be in the Presbyterian Church at 8 p.m.

The regular meeting of the Woman's Missionary Society was held on Thursday. Mrs. Porter gave a bright and helpful paper on "The Chinese Woman." Her address was divided into two parts, the Chinese woman as she is today, and how we treat her. She enlightened us as to the knowledge some Chinese women possessed, and gave us an insight into what the future Chinese woman may be if only led aright. She closed with a stirring appeal to the Christian women to rise up to the opportunity now given them to reach these people. Mrs. Galbraith was elected to the office of Treasurer made vacant by the resignation of Mrs. Barker. We deeply regret her removal but rejoice to know that the enthusiasm and zeal which she manifested here will be carried to some sister auxiliary.

ATTEMPTED ROBBERY.

A. C. Foster, who carries His Majesty's mail west, claims to have met with an attempted hold up about two weeks ago. A man tried to grab the bride of his horse as he was passing through the Blueberry hills west of Ekville. He drew his revolver, and both men fired at once, Foster losing the tip of his ear. The horses jumped away, and the man ran the other way without firing again. Foster says he will know the man if he ever meets him again. He had two foreigners with him who were badly frightened, but they escaped with their lives.
